

Interactive, Multimedia, Course Creation

Product Description:

Has your company invested capital in training materials or top quality training videos? Are you looking for ways to extend the life of these materials, or enter a new market, or grow your current revenues by offering alternative training delivery options? Let Convenience Learning International (CLI) show you how to enhance your current materials by converting them into a new interactive platform. With our technologies your existing videos or training assets can become fully interactive titles in a matter of weeks.

CLI creates interactive, video intensive training materials that are deliverable in five formats: CD-ROM, Computer Based Training (CBT), Network, Intranet and Internet. By combining video with pre & post testing, and various interactive features our courseware delivers an online learning experience that reaches more people more quickly and effectively than ever before. Every course contains a Learning Management System that can be used to offer certifications, administrate learners or as a marketing feedback tool.

If the financial investment required to get into interactive multimedia is holding you back, give us a call! Convenience Learning is willing to discuss a revenue sharing arrangement that could reduce your up front development costs.
